The Washington State Developmental Disabilities Council is seeking candidates to fill open positions on the Governor-appointed Council.

Who Can Apply

The Council encourages anyone who is interested to apply. Council membership includes self-advocates and family members and represents the wide cultural and geographical diversity of our state. Selected council members will hold a three-year term and are eligible for reappointment for a second term. The Council covers all expenses, including travel to meetings, meals and lodging.

The Work of the Council

The Washington State Developmental Disabilities Council ensures that people with developmental disabilities receive the support and services necessary to enable them to achieve their maximum potential. The Council also develops public policy recommendations, which promote the values of self-determination, independence, inclusion, integration and productivity for people with developmental disabilities.
